Hunters Must Have License

The state game and fish warden, J. H. Rodes, of Sedalia, says that he will make all persons in the state who wish to hunt, take out licenses. The only exceptions to be made are in those cases where farmers hunt on their own grounds. There was much discussion in the legislature on the matter of farmers hunting without licenses and it was the general opinion among the representatives of farming communities that the bill has been so amended as to allow residents of counties hunting any place in their counties.

Mr. Rodes, who is a lawyer, has to ceived scores of inquiries on the point. and in reply to these Mr. Rodes says that in spite of the evident intention of the legislature, his construction of the law was that every person must take out a license to hunt and that the law would be enforced under this construction.

State Fair Reduced Bates

The railroads of the state have made one fare to Sedalia and return on account of the State Fair, good from Saturday, August 19, to Monday, August 28. All live stock (except horses) will be shipped to the fair at tariff rates and returned to point of shipment, if no change of ownership has occurred, free of charge. Agricultural and horticultural products will be shipped to Sedalia at tariff rates and re-shipped to the exhibitor to point where shipment originated free of charge, and if no change of ownership has occurred the amount paid for first shipment will be returned. All articles or animals by express will be delivered on the grounds to the building where exhibit is to be made. If the owner or some one representing him will not be on the grounds to receive the shipment, it should be billed to the superintendent of department in charge of such exhibits. All exhibits, other than live stock, should be in place by 6 o'clock p. m., Saturday, August 19. Entry blanks are printed in each premium list or may be obtained by addressing J. R. Rippey, Secretary, Sedalia, Mo.

Good Boads and Bural Boutes.

Every farmer, every business man, it matters not in what part of the United States he resides, should take a lively interest in the good-roads movement. There are few matters of such vital interest to the farmers, and the merchants of each and every town are just as much interested. Good, well-kept roads, leading to a town are sure to bring trade that would otherwise go to some other place. Then good roads mean economy; costs less for repairs, consequently lower taxation; means that teams can haul loads from 50 to 200 per cent greater, and means less wear and tear on horses and wagons. If there are poor roads in any section the poople may well start a movement to improve them, doing the community a service worthy of highest commendation.

Oregon offers a prize of $50 for the best mile of road; $30 for the second best mile and $20 for third best mile. This offer no doubt had much to do in bringing Uncle Sam's rural route inspector to the county, and the chances are there will be several additional rural routes added to the county.
